Herron Award 2022 Winner - Autumn Matthews

Autumn works hard to see that everyone around her is a success, from students to co-workers. Adaptable and responsive, she exhibits honesty, kindness, professionalism, transparency, and accountability in her work, and is adored by the instructional and other team members for her willingness to go the extra mile. In addition to working with program coordinators to track timelines, revise schedules, and update new state and accreditation requirements, she has helped Mid’s Workforce and Economic Development Technical Education Centers to build strong relationships with community partners, state agencies, caseworkers, employers and clinical sites, as well as members of the Tech Center Advisory Board. Her work is appreciated outside of Mid by other organizations like the Central Michigan Manufacturers Association and their 100 plus members. In addition, her commitment to learning and improvement is exemplified by the Highest Award for Achievement that she recently received from The Dale Carnegie Course.
